

Hans Peter Jonas Hogh-Noori

Fin-tech professional with 5 years experience in software and project management, I have recently decided to make a career change and pivot into software development. Part of this change is driven by an urge to work in a more creative role where I can literally engineer helpful solutions for society. I am interested in the fin-tech space as this is where I cut my teeth, especially for companies who aim to make finance more accessible for all.
